2. Scope of these terms

These are the static terms published by Saanjha for transactions on the ONDC Network in the Retail domain, in both of the roles stated above. They are referenced as static_terms in the terms tag group accompanying our catalogues and order messages.

Saanjha's general Terms of Use, published at <https://saanjha.ai/legal/terms>, govern the relationship between Saanjha and its own end users. The present document governs matters arising between Saanjha and other Network Participants, and is the operative document for any network transaction.

3. Orders and fulfilment

Where Saanjha acts as a Seller Network Participant it does so as a Multi-Seller Network. The merchant of record for every order is the shop whose goods are listed; Saanjha operates the seller application and is not the seller of those goods.

The dispatch commitment for each item is published on that item as @ondc/org/time_to_ship. Our standard commitment is two hours (PT2H) for grocery and general merchandise, and forty-five minutes (PT45M) for prepared food and beverage. Store opening hours and serviceable areas are published in the catalogue and an order is accepted only within them.

4. Cancellation

Whether an item may be cancelled is published on that item as @ondc/org/cancellable. A buyer-initiated cancellation is accepted, against the applicable ONDC cancellation reason code, until the order has been dispatched.

Saanjha levies no cancellation charge on a retail order, whether the cancellation is initiated by the buyer or by the seller. Where Saanjha or the merchant cancels, it is done only against a published ONDC cancellation reason code and the full order value is returned through the settlement process.

5. Returns and refunds

Return eligibility is published per item as @ondc/org/returnable and @ondc/org/return_window, measured from delivery, as follows.

Item class	Returnable	Return window	Pickup
Packaged, sealed goods	Yes	1 hour (PT1H)	Arranged by seller

Item class	Returnable	Return window	Pickup
Semi-durable goods	Yes	1 day (P1D)	Arranged by seller
Perishable goods	No	Not applicable	Addressed as a grievance (see section 6)
Loose or weight-variable goods	No	Not applicable	Addressed as a grievance (see section 6)

Perishable and weight-variable goods are not returnable because returned goods of those kinds cannot be restocked. This is not a limitation of remedy: goods that are spoiled, defective or not as ordered are made right through the grievance process in section 6, which carries no restocking assumption.

Where a return is accepted, Saanjha arranges collection (@ondc/org/seller_pickup_return). The refund is effected through the ONDC settlement process once the returned goods have been collected and accepted.

6. Grievance redressal (IGM)

Saanjha supports the ONDC Issue and Grievance Management protocol in both version 1.0.0 and version 2.0.0, and accepts issues raised against any order it has fulfilled.

Saanjha acknowledges an issue within the expected_response_time stated on that issue, and works to resolve it within the expected_resolution_time stated on it. Where no such time is stated, Saanjha applies the network default of two hours for response and one day for resolution.

For an issue concerning an item, the resolutions Saanjha offers are a refund or a replacement of the item, at the complainant's election. An issue concerning settlement between Network Participants is a matter between those participants; the merchant owes nothing on it, and Saanjha will record no action against the merchant in respect of it.

Grievance Officer details are published at <https://saanjha.ai/legal/grievance/> and grievances may also be sent to support@saanjha.ai.
